

Senate Gives Support Of JFK's Requests

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has given unanimous support to two of President Kennedy's urgent defense requests.

Party lines dissolved Friday as the Senate passed in rapid succession

Authorization for $975,570,000 for quick delivery of new missiles, ships and planes. The vote was 81-0.

Authority to hold fighting men or units on duty an extra year and to call up to 250,000 reservists to active duty. The vote was 75-0.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois had urged unanimous Senate votes on the bills "to show (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev we mean business."

Earlier Friday the House Armed Services Committee approved the measures by a 37-0 vote. Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said he would ask House action early next week.

The additional $3,454,000,000 requested by Kennedy to strengthen conventional fighting forces was tacked onto the regular annual defense money bill by a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., manager for the money bill, said senators had agreed to withhold details until the full Appropriations Committee gives its approval Tuesday.

But other senators said the committee not only put in all of President's latest requests but also tacked on $1 billion more of defense items.

Reported approved was $325 million to continue production of long-range B52 bombers and $448 million to push development of B70 supersonic bombers as a complete weapon system.

Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had asked no funds to continue jet bomber production and recommended that the B70 be limited to an experimental prototype aircraft rather than a complete weapons system.

These extra funds would push the current fiscal defense outlay up above $47 billion.

Despite the unanimous Senate votes, there were sharp protests that the European Allies—Britain, France and West Germany—were not carrying their share of the added burdens.

"We must force our Allies to do their share," Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., a long-time foe of foreign aid, said.

The reserve call-up bill was passed without a proposed "lump sum incentive payment" sought by Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., for those volunteering for 12 months.

Case, in his amendment, also proposed extra pay for all men called up under the build-up program, whether they volunteered or not. It was shouted down.

Profit Share Plan Offered Auto Workers

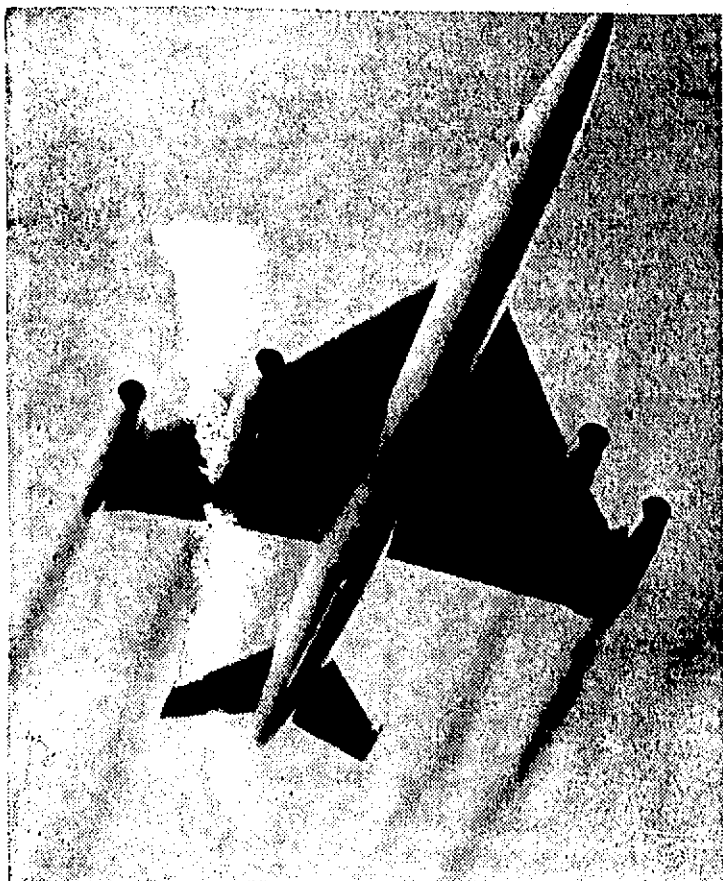

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. today offered the United Auto Workers Union a profit-sharing wage plan and a seven-cent hourly wage increase annually over the next three years.

In exchange, American Motors asked the UAW to give up cost-of-living allowance and annual incentive contract expiring Sept. 7.

AMC's was the first settlement offer handed the UAW in negotiations started a month ago with the auto industry. In 1958 profit-sharing was the union's principal goal but it failed to get it.

AMC would set aside the first 10 percent of profits before taxes for its stockholders, then set aside the next 10 percent to what it termed a progressive sharing fund for hourly rated union employees.

American Motors offered customers a rebate program last winter, the refund depending upon total sales. In only one month did sales sufficiently outstrip those the similar month a year earlier and consequently only one $25 rebate savings bond was paid—to Rambler buyers of December.

RUSSIA'S FINEST?—"Boulder" above, is Russia's newest supersonic bomber. So new that it is not yet listed in NATO's code book. Boulder is said to be 200 feet long, which would make it the largest supersonic plane now operational. Ten of the craft were observed at the recent air show in Moscow. Warns in a Sense We Are in a War

HICKMAN Ky. (AP)—Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr., warning that "we in a very real sense are living in wartime," has outlined a National Guard program with both long- and short-range objectives.

Stahr was here to receive the honors of his home town on "Elvis Stahr Day."

"We all must be stronger, more effective and more combat ready than ever before," he said.

"We intend—and we are in dead earnest about this—to bring as many National Guard units as possible to a point where they are ready to be mobilized and deployed on a time schedule geared closely to that of the active forces."

Stahr made the remarks in an interview and in a speech prepared for delivery at a Governor's Day parade of Kentucky National Guardsmen. He did not make the speech because of a change in plans and threatening weather.

Stahr mentioned no numbers in talking of enlarging the guard, which now is authorized by Congress to have 400,000 men. But he said the program calls for some units to be brought to full strength and to be ready to go in three to five weeks should they be called to active duty. Other units will have to wait up to three months.

"The program will require gradual increase over the next three years," Stahr said. "It is not something we can do overnight."

British Plan to Join the Common Mkt.

By TOM OCHILTREE
GENEVA (AP)—Britain today sidestepped a definite announcement to its partners in the European Free Trade Association on whether it plans to join the booming rival Common Market, a source at the EFTA conference reported.

There was no other word on what Edward Heath, No. 2 man in the British Foreign Office, told Britain's trading partners but the atmosphere at the opening session of the conference was said to have been friendly. It was held in closely guarded secrecy.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is to outline the British position in the House of Commons Monday, and precautions have been taken.

Took Five to Restrain Youth
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Police found an 18-year-old youth sitting on a bridge railing, dangling his feet over the side, today. It took five officers to get the youth off the bridge.

A motorist reported seeing the boy perched on the rail of the Broadway Bridge over the Arkansas River.

Declares TV Taught Son How to Kill

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A grieving man says his 11-year-old son learned to kill from television.

"I can't think of any other answer," said Junior Franks, the father.

William Earl Franks told his father at the Marshall County jail how he waylaid a rural mail carrier and shot him to death with a rifle.

Joseph R. Thompson, 37, the postman, was killed Wednesday about 200 yards from the house near the Grant community where William Earl lived with his divorced father and grandmother.

"I think the main cause is TV," the father said in a telephone interview. "He liked the war pictures and Westerns."

Franks described his son as normal and said he made better than average grades at the grammar school at Grant, where he had been promoted to the sixth grade.

Franks said he gave his son the rifle for Christmas two years ago.

Sheriff Warren Jones said the boy gave a statement Thursday describing how he raised the flag on a rural mail box, causing the postman to stop, and then shot him to death.

The sheriff said he used the mail in the car to set the vehicle on fire.

The boy was held in Marshall County jail but no charges were filed immediately.

The postman's cash box was found open in the car. The amount of money taken was not known. None was recovered.

The sheriff said several books of stamps and the postman's watch were recovered.

Five expended .22-caliber cartridges were found beside the car. Jones and sheriff's deputies began a search for a rifle. It was this search that led them to the Franks house.

Neither Knew Where Meet Was
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus leaped into a waiting car to be sped to an appearance before the Arkansas American Legion today.

The car went about 50 feet and suddenly screeched to a halt. Faubus jumped out and raced back into the capital.

Neither he nor State Policeman Bob Barrett, his driver, had found out where the Legion convention was being held.

Army To Give Stations Free Hand To Work

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, in effect, has given its induction stations a free hand to spend more money, hire more people, and stay open longer to handle the anticipated armed forces increase.

In the wake of President Kennedy's military build-up move, Army officials said today, instructions have been sent to the Continental Army Command to take whatever action is deemed necessary so that examining and induction stations can keep abreast of the mounting work load.

These were described as temporary instructions. Firm directives will follow final congressional action on Kennedy's requests for more money to add 225,000 men to the military services.

In turn, the Continental Army Command has relayed work to its regional commands, which have issued specific orders to the induction stations in their area.

In at least one city, Albany, N. Y., recruiting and induction stations were told to begin working 10 hours a day, 6 days a week.

The sharp rise in draft calls, starting in August, is expected to lead to an increase in enlistment and voluntary inductions.

Officials reported many stations had been deluged with inquiries but that information available here does not yet reflect any sizable rise in actual enlistments.

Judging from past experience, these officials said, many youths of draft age are likely to step forward and sign up without waiting to be tapped through Selective Service.

"This is because voluntary enlistees can choose their service or branch of service, arrange for schooling, and take advantage of other option not open to draftees."

While the Army runs the recruiting-induction stations, they are used by the Navy, Air Force and Marines, too. These other services do not plan to draw on the draft but to raise their added manpower through enlistments or reserves.

"The Army would prefer to get its additional 133,000 men through enlistment rather than the draft. For one thing, a man who enlists commits himself to serve at least three years while a draftee is bound to remain in uniform only for two years."

Spaceman Leaves to Woo Brazil

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

HAVANA (AP)—Yuri Gagarin left for Brazil today after a four-day visit that dramatized the Soviet Union's support for Fidel Castro's revolution. Castro and his Cabinet saw him off at the airport.

The boyish, smiling 27-year-old Soviet astronaut closed out his official appearances here Thursday night with a television show at Havana University. He sidestepped political questions from a panel of professors, students and Cuban newsmen.

However, in a allusion to the United States, he said his space flight "cooled the hot heads of some persons who think only in terms of war."

Gagarin came to Havana to help Castro celebrate the eighth anniversary of the start of the 26th of July Movement. He remained on the platform for seven hours Wednesday as Castro announced plans for a Communist-style single "united party of the Socialist revolution."

The exertions of keeping up with Castro in the unaccustomed Havana heat obviously tired Gagarin.

Today, Castro sent a message to the people of the Communist world in connection with the anniversary.

"We want to thank all our brothers who are helping us so much for showing immense solidarity with the Cuban revolution," the message said. "The Cuban people are alert against North American (U.S.) imperialism, and thanks to the solidarity of all Socialist countries, the Cuban revolution will succeed over any attempted aggression."

Railway on Roof of State Building

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Rock's new federal building has a railroad on its roof.

Tracks rim the top of the seven-story structure and a railroad motor car resembling those used by track crews glides around the very edge of the roof.

The railroad is for window washing. The car has a scaffold arrangement by which washers of the building's many windows—324 per floor—can slide up and down the face of the walls.

The railroad car has, in addition to electric power to move the scaffolding, its own water supply for washers and a telephone for emergency use.

Blames TV Network for Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—A television show producer said today the three major networks are responsible for what he considers excessive crime and violence on TV.

He testified the networks write letters asking for less violence, but make telephone calls urging "more sex, more violence, and blacker villains so we can kill them off in one big climax."

The witness, Maurice J. Unger, Hollywood manager for Ziv-United Artists, Inc., said there would be less crime and violence on shows seen by children if Congress "reduced the excessive power" of the three men who head the big networks.

He said the three have a stranglehold on programs and have "more power than the Constitution gives Congress or the Supreme Court."

He added that if the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., wants to improve shows, "it can convince the seven men on the Federal Communications Commission to curb the powers of the three men in the networks."

Unger and A. Frank Reel, vice president in charge of business affairs for Ziv-United Artists, testified at an inquiry into the effect of some TV programs on youngsters.

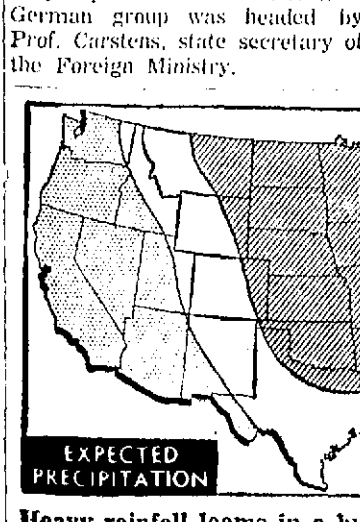

West Plans Strategy on Berlin Crisis

PARIS (AP)—Experts from the Big Three Western powers and West Germany met today to begin mapping a joint diplomatic strategy on Berlin and Germany.

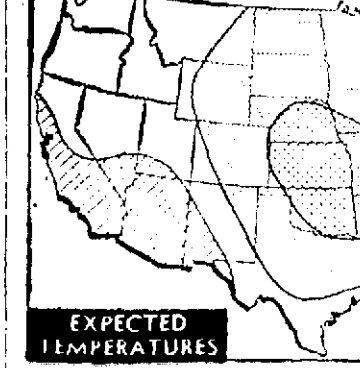

The experts are preparing for the foreign ministers conference here Aug. 5-7 and a special meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council Aug. 8, when Western plans for meeting a possible Berlin crisis will be hammered out.

Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, headed the American delegation.

The British group was headed by Sir Evelyn Shuckburgh, deputy undersecretary in the foreign office. Jean Laloy of the European affairs section of the Foreign Ministry represented France. A West German group was headed by Prof. Carlstens, state secretary of the Foreign Ministry.

Heavy rainfall looms in a huge mass over a large part of the country. Amounts will be lesser to east, west, south.

A large bull's-eye of cool temperatures in the center of the nation is a feature of the forecast for next 30 days.

People Are Thinking About Something Every Minute They Are Awake... Think of That

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Do you "put off" doing things? I think the fancy word for it is Procrastinate. Well, plain or fancy, that's what I do.

And here it is time to put words on paper, but I am at a loss for them. Let me think a minute. By golly, that's not a bad idea in itself. Thinking, I mean. Maybe "a minute" isn't quite enough, though.

Being human, all of us "think" about something all the time. Not necessarily constructive thoughts or creative thoughts or beautiful thoughts, but we think, nevertheless.

One of the most difficult things a person can do is "make the mind a complete blank." I believe it is an impossibility, but any time an electro-encephalogram is made the human being tested is told to quit thinking.

Now, I ask you: Have you ever stopped thinking about everything? I doubt it.

But, in leisure moments (which we all have a little of) what do you think about? Are you making plans for the next meal you will cook or the next sale you hope to make? Thinking, perhaps, of the vacation you are going on pretty soon?

In more morbid moments thinking is usually called Worrying, and everyone does some of that, too. Telling us that worrying does no good has no more effect than ordering a bee not to sting.

One of the foremost pieces of sculpture in the world is called "The Thinker." One of the best-selling books of non-fiction is Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's "The Power of Positive Thinking." One of the best-loved and oft-quoted passages from holy writ is "As a man thinketh in his heart so he is."

What we think shows what we are and determines what we are to become. It takes a mighty big person, spiritually, to find only good thoughts in a trying situation. There are a few of us who could do as Caroline Williams did when he mentally created his famous rifle while being fined in a prison "sweat box." In his case, creative thinking saved his sanity.

Some people are in the constant shadow of "dirty thoughts." The result? Their person and their personality both appear smudged. On the other hand, when "clean thoughts" prevail, there is usually an inner happiness that seems to radiate to others.

Your thinking can be guided but never forced. It has been said that "thoughts are things," but just what "things" they are depends on you.

Had you ever thought about it?

Warden Suspended in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—State Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton announced today the suspension of Warden Joe Barfield at Fort Payne State Prison pending completion of an audit at the West Tennessee institution.

Hampton said an investigation so far revealed a shortage of close to $10,000 in prison accounts but that a former employee has admitted he was implicated in the shortage. The former employee's name was not disclosed.

New Lows on the British Stock Market

LONDON (AP)—British government bonds fell to record lows on the stock exchange today while stock prices also suffered widespread losses.

The selling wave was attributed to the Conservative government's new austerity program which won an overwhelming vote of approval in Parliament Thursday night despite aroused feelings on the part of wage earners.

The program is aimed at correcting an adverse balance of trade and curbing domestic inflation.

Investors hastened to get rid of their government bonds. The government program, among other things, raised the Bank of England interest rate to 7 per cent from 5 and made other investments more attractive than government bonds.

Some bond issues were down as much as $4.90. Par is $20 but many have recently sold at less than half that figure.

Approval of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government plan by Parliament, with its Conservative majority, had been expected. But groups of teachers, miners, engineers and telephone operators made plans to press for pay raises despite government pleas to hold the wage line.

Thinks Thin People Are More Moral

OXFORD, England (AP)—Thin people have higher moral standards than fat people, a lecturer in social psychology told the Conference of Modern Churchmen Thursday.

Michael Argyle said investigations have shown thin and bony people generally have superiors. He said this means they have higher standards of conduct, are better able to resist temptation and experience stronger guilt feelings.

He said investigations also showed that girls general have stronger superiors than boys, and that the average middle-class person has a stronger conscience than working-class people.

"We should come to regard guilty feelings as part of the personality to be lived with," he continued, "and to disregard those guilt feelings which we know to be caused by trivial acts of no moral significance."

He cited drunken driving as a confusing crime to many people. "Drunken motoring, although illegal and extremely antisocial, appears to cause no guilt feelings whatsoever," said the lecturer.

Slight Dip in Store Sales

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reports that department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District the week ended July 22nd were down two per cent from those of the same week in 1960.

Sales for the week were higher than last year only at Louisville, which went up 17 per cent.

The St. Louis area dropped six per cent and declines of two per cent were marked in Memphis, Little Rock and seven smaller district cities.

District sales for the four weeks ended July 22 were down two per cent from those of the same period last year and district sales to date are down one per cent from the similar period of 1960.

U.S. Is Caught In Squeeze In Bizerte Crisis

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—France stood today in defiance of any U. N. attempt to interfere in her dispute with Tunisia. The Security Council neared a vote on the Bizerte crisis, which has caught the United States in a squeeze.

Speculation mounted that France might break her boycott of the debate and use the veto to block an Asian-African resolution accusing her of flouting the week-old cease-fire call in Tunisia.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told the council Friday night he had received evidence during his recent trip to Tunisia that France had violated the council's cease-fire and assumed functions on Tunisian soil "normally reserved to a sovereign state."

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson conferred for 50 minutes in Paris Friday with President Charles de Gaulle on the Bizerte crisis.

Stevenson, chief of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, said he hoped "there will be a mutually satisfactory resolution to this unfortunate affair."

Tunisia wants the United States to make good on its pronouncements of friendship to newly independent nations and back Tunisia's demands that France pull out of her big air-naval base at Bizerte.

The United States has been reluctant to offend De Gaulle at a time when Western unity is vital in dealing with Soviet demands on Berlin.

France has made it clear it would not be bound by any decision the Security Council makes on Bizerte.

The De Gaulle government issued a statement in Paris Friday charging Tunisia with trying to obtain through U. N. intervention what she had failed to get by force after four days of bloody fighting in Bizerte.

"It is necessary to make it known," said the French statement, "that France has certainly no intention of selling the issue through such a procedure."

A French delegation spokesman told a reporter, "We will vote if necessary," sparking speculation that France might use the veto if need be to knock down the resolution put in by the United Arab Republic, Liberia and Ceylon.

U. S. Delegate Charles Vost told the council the United States still felt the final solution lies in direct negotiation between France and Tunisia.

Soviet Delegate Platon D. Morozov lashed out at France as a violator of council decrees. He said France must be made to toe the mark.

The Tunisian envoy, Mongi Slim, who had asked for the council session, recited a long list of French actions he said violated the cease-fire.

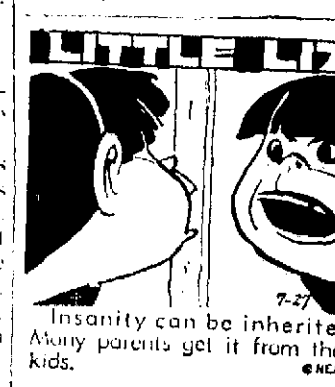

Bourguiba's party stepped up its efforts throughout Tunisia, meanwhile, to beef up nationalist fervor in the face of disappointments in the campaign against France.

Business Is Looking to Second Half

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Wait until the second half is the cry today of a growing number of companies reporting on their profits in the first six months of 1961.

A majority of nearly 600 reporting so far have shown declines from their net income in the first half of 1960. Combined the decline comes to 11.5 per cent.

But a sizable number have shown increases in the April-June quarter from the earnings in the first three months. Even more have shown gains in sales, while profits lagged. And a majority of those making predictions say they expect earnings to look better during the final six months of the year.

Although the majority show the lingering effects of the recession in their first half statements, there have been some striking gains.

And Wall Street—which divides its attention between the flood of earnings reports and the Berlin crisis—has taken heart from the pleasant number of those who have been able to set records. For these the recession was only something the other fellow felt.

Of 593 nonfinancial corporations recorded so far, 263 report 1961 profits higher than the 1960 first half, and 330 show declines. This year 39 report net losses, compared to 30 a year ago.

Leading the parade of those with increasing profits were American Telephone & Telegraph, International Business Machines, Douglas Aircraft, Gulf Oil, Socony Mobil, American Tobacco, Reynolds Tobacco, Republic Aviation, Borden, American Can, Colgate Palmolive, Maytag, United Air Lines.

But more than offsetting these gains were the declining profits reported by General Motors, General Electric, Du Pont, U.S. Steel, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, RCA, Eastman Kodak, Goodrich, Firestone, Union Carbide, International Harvester, Swift and Armour.

A disappointing number of Eastern Railroads reported net losses for the period. Railroad earnings as a whole were trailing last year by about 90 per cent.

The steel industry, with the tally nearing an end, was 48 per cent behind the 1960 figures. All the big companies trailed, although for many second quarter results rallied from first quarter setbacks.

Offsetting this, most utilities pulled ahead of a year ago and early returns from the oil industry show 1961 profits higher by 15 per cent. Makers of containers are running 11.3 per cent ahead of soft drink makers are up 4.3 per cent. Makers of electrical appliances report a 2.3 per cent rise.

Other leading industries don't show up so well. With most of the chemical companies recording declines, the industry dip is 12.9 per cent.

River Bridge Dedication Successful

By AL DOPKING

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—This Mississippi River city returned to normal today after Thursday's festive triple dedication—the most memorable event in Helena's history.

Traffic flows from Arkansas to Mississippi and back over a new $14 million bridge today, the steam generators at Arkansas Power and Light Co.'s $44 million plant are churning, and a new $1.1 million federal building is open for business.

Those three facilities were dedicated Thursday before a crowd of thousands, with dignitaries from Arkansas and Mississippi officiating. Govs. Ross Barnett and Orval E. Faubus hit hard the theme of interstate cooperation at the bridge dedication.

At the steam plant, Arkansas Sens. J. W. Fulbright and John McClellan lauded private enterprise. Rep. E. C. Gathings was principal speaker at the federal building ceremony.

A the mile-long bridge, Barnett pleaded for Southwide unity in solving "a number of mutual problems that are now faced by the South and other conservative areas of this great nation."

He said Faubus had written him expressing faith in the goals that eight Southern governors discussed in a recent meeting in Jackson, Miss. "Such unity of agreement," Barnett said, "followed by unity of action, cannot fail to attract further support to our cause."

Tolls ranging from 50 cents for motorcycles, $1 for private cars and up to $4.50 for heavy trucks go into effect on the bridge today. The bridge is the only such structure for autos and trucks between Memphis and Greenville, Miss.

Civic officials estimated about 20,000 persons visited Helena during the day and police estimated crowds at 4,000 for the bridge ceremony, 4,000 at the steam plant and 7,000 at a downtown parade.

Faubus said the steam plant reflected APL's confidence in the future of the state. McClellan said the steam plant marked the increasing momentum of the economic growth of Arkansas.

"Let us not forget that this great facility is a product of American free enterprise," he said. "It is a reality today because thousands of people with faith in the future, invested their money to provide $50 million for construction of this plant and power lines."

Fulbright, who said the secret of the capitalistic system is an equal flow of private and public money into development of the country, added that helping dedicate the power plant gave him more pleasure than helping Congress spend sums for bomb shelters and national defense.

Problems Ride JFK's Back Like Monkey

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential problems ride John F. Kennedy's back like a monkey gorging itself on a fresh supply of calories every day.

Kennedy knew he would have problems, but didn't realize how quickly they would build up.

While he was still a candidate, asking for the problems, he told the National Press Club Jan. 14, 1960.

"We will need in the 60s a president... willing and able to summon his constituency to its finest hours, to alert the people to our dangers and opportunities, to demand of them the sacrifices that will be necessary."

The word "sacrifices" is a permanent part of his vocabulary. He used it later in his inaugural address and again in his TV talk last Tuesday night.

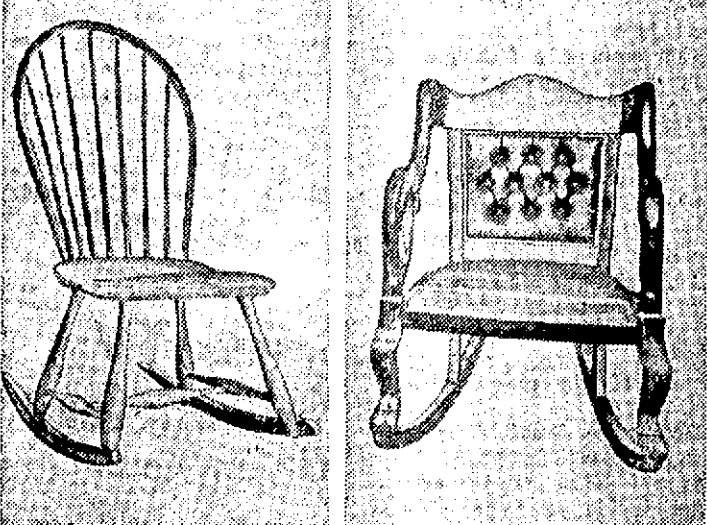

On that day in 1960 he also said: "The time has come... again" for the "moral" leadership of a Wilson, Lincoln, Truman, Franklin D. Roosevelt who led the people as well as the government (and) fought for great ideals as well as bills."

But Tuesday night after only six months in office he said: "When I ran for the presidency... I knew that this country faced serious challenge but I could not realize nor could any man realize who does not bear the burdens of this office how heavy and constant would be those burdens."

His burdens are not the same as the early presidents—theirs were mostly administrative, political and domestic—when the United States was isolated and remote from Europe. Yet Alexis de Tocqueville could see when that would change:

"It is chiefly in its foreign relations that the executive power port and Texarkana and a wide area of the Arkansas-Texas-Louisiana area.

However, in a drawing of Franklin (top left) in his home in Philadelphia in that year, the statesman-inventor seemed to prefer a chair with legs planted solidly on the ground. Was It Her Love or Her Money He Wanted?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband is after my hard-earned savings. God knows it is in my heart to do right but—Up to my marriage last year I lived with and supported my parents, both of whom have since passed away. When we married I made it a condition that my life savings remain in my name. My brother invested the money for me in real estate, which pays six per cent. I've been turning the interest over to my husband to invest. Now he wants all my money to invest in some stock venture. He says either he gets that money or I go live with my brother. Please advise me.—Confused

Dear Confused: If it's your money and not you, your husband wants, give him his walking papers. Since he is cold blooded enough to issue such an ultimatum, it should be no concern of his whether or not you live with your brother. Do what you want—and that goes for your money too.

Dear Helen: My husband and I recently returned from a two-weeks visit with my son and daughter-in-law. I wish we had never gone. What that woman is doing to my boy leaves me limp. He is 19, she, 20. Before they married, we refused to let him bring her home—she was that kind of girl. She roped the boy and he's lived in hell ever since. She dominates all conversation, and her with only a high school education. My son works eight hours at an Air Base, six hours at a filling station, does most of the housework and is up at night with the baby. His wife isn't up till noon. Now, he's put everything in her name. It breaks my heart to see him kill himself trying to please a girl who only married him for a meal ticket. I've thought of writing him an encouraging letter, telling him to stand on his own two feet and sending it to the Air Base, but he might let her read it and that would only make matters worse. I've a lot of faith in you. Help me to help my son!—A.A.

Dear A.A.: Having faced similar problems in my own family, I appreciate your feelings. From experience, all I can say is keep on loving your son and his wife—if she will let you. It is useless to interfere unless he calls for help. Then you can do little except give him moral support. He got himself into this snarl and only he can get himself out. If you've brought him up to be honest, sincere and to tell the truth, you've no cause for worry. It isn't so much the trouble as the way he meets it which matters. Look upon this as a test of his character—part of the schooling which life deals us. Go on with your own life!

Dear Helen: I am 15, rather plain, but still popular with boys as well as girls. A month ago I met a boy who has become a very special person to me. For the first two weeks we dated secretly—he being 17 and my parents opposed to me dating with older boys. Now, since they have met and liked him, we are going steadily. We shall marry—when I finish school and he has a good job. Meanwhile, we sail through life on a pink cloud which collides every once in a while with the dark clouds of our emotions. It is then we drop down to earth—parting until the storm passes. This worries us. Please help us to understand and do whatever will protect our future.—J.B.

Dear J.B.: Think how dull your love would be if you didn't have the shadows as well as the sunlight! To understand love, we must understand sex. During adolescence, sex unleashes its mighty force—a power which either serves or enslaves us. Romantic love such as yours, precedes it. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Sex Education for Teenagers."

U. S. Overcoats Come in Handy

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Thousands of Ethiopians are going about in knee-length American overcoats of various colors during the current season of rainy cold.

The Finance Ministry thought it was ordering khaki overcoats from America for the army. But thousands of civilian overcoats arrived in green, blue, purple and beige. They're being sold to the public for the equivalent of $10.

River Work Bids

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The H. N. Rodgers Sons Construction Co. of Memphis submitted the apparent low bid of $289,830 Thursday on a bank stabilization program on the Arkansas River below Dardanelle Dam. Army Engineers estimated cost of the project at $259,131. The job calls for 9,670 linear feet of trenchfill revetment on the Pope County side of the river.

220 for Draft

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Selective Services says 220 Arkansas men will be called in August to meet an increased quota of 140. Col. Fred M. Croom, state director, said all 220 have been examined, but some would be rejected after further examination. The quota was 84 before it was raised. The 140 will be non-father registrants 22 or older and volunteers.

Broadcasters Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Discussions on editorializing and labor will highlight the fall meeting of the Arkansas Broadcasters Association here Aug. 25-26.

Denies Paying High for Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Nelson Cox, director of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, denied today that the commission has paid an excessive price for any land bought for public hunting and fishing.

Montgomery County Rep. O.C. Maddox recently challenged commission land purchases while the commission's audit was being reviewed by the Legislative Audit Committee. The audit was carried over to next month's committee meeting.

Cox said he had heard a charge that the commission had paid $18,000 for 34 acres but he could find no record of such a transaction. Cox said the commission had paid as high as $100 an acre but only for a fraction of the 200,000 acres the commission now owns.

Cox said much of the 200,000 acres was bought for as low as $7 an acre and more than 50 per cent was obtained at less than $20 an acre.

Harrison Plans Big Re-opening

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Harrison merchants will hold a "grand reopening" Sept. 6-9 to celebrate recovery from a disastrous flood which wiped out 80 per cent of its business district on May 7.

A Chamber of Commerce spokesman said virtually all stores which had damage during the flood will be back in business by September.

To Command Ship

CAMEEN, Ark. (AP)—Cmdr. Keith Hopper will leave the Shumaker Naval Ammunition Depot here about Aug. 20 to become commander of the destroyer USS Marshall in San Diego, Calif. Lt. Cmdr. Robert Jelesnansky, now executive officer, will succeed him in command.

TV for Cows

AXMOUTH, England (AP)—Farmer Charles Pidgeon switched on the television for his cows as milk flowed like never before.

Pidgeon installed the TV sets in the barn last week to keep his cows contented during the tedious business of getting milked. He claims each cow is giving two gallons of milk more a day.

"Other farmers use radio and long-playing discs," Pidgeon said. "I decided to go one better."

Troops Costly

LONDON (AP)—Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons today the cost of sending British troops to Kuwait from July 1 to date was about one million pounds ($2,000,000).

Watkinson gave the figure in reply to a question from a laborite member.

Britain sent troops to Kuwait after neighboring Iraq threatened to annex the oil sheikdom.

TO BE FREE

By LESTER ARNO

It was good to be "out."

To walk where you wanted; talk as you wished; visit with whom you liked; for however long you desired: it was good to be "out."

It was good to be free!

He walked briskly down the avenue, a grin on his face.

"They" hadn't caught up to him yet.

He waited for a red light to change green. A man passed him, half-turned to look again and then walked on.

The light turned green.

He crossed the street and paused for a moment to give himself the luxury of deciding in which direction to continue.

Should it be north or south, east or west? He remembered when he was a farm boy, he and the other kids had played a game when they had to make a decision. How did it go? "Ibby-dibby-dab."

But that was as much as he could remember. Maybe there had to be more than one to play the game.

His smile grew larger as he remembered that he had no more decisions to make, no more decisions to abide by.

He started walking south saying softly, "Ibby-dibby-dab. Ibby-dibby-dab. The way I am ain't bad!"

Silly what freedom will do to a man, he thought.

Freedom makes you kind of childish. Is that bad? No. It's good. People don't appreciate freedom enough. They would if their every move were watched. If the watchers were there when you got up . . . when you ate . . . when you worked . . . when you went to bed.

Ibby-dibby-dab!

He remembered the time before they started watching him. It was so long ago. He hadn't appreciated being "out."

Now, he knew. Now, he appreciated.

He took a deep breath and lengthened his stride.

Walk a million miles. Walk to China and clear around the world, the way he had dreamed of walking when he was a child.

See everything.

It was nice to day dream. Wonderful to be free.

He was not free now, only pretending. Well, it was nice to pretend, too.

Ibby-dibby-dab.

Berlin Issue Will Be With Us for Years

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Short of an explosion, you'd better get used to an angry Berlin problem which will boil up again and again for years.

It's a mixed-up and, in a sense, an ironic mess. Even President Kennedy isn't expressing hope for a permanent Berlin solution now.

He said in his TV talk Tuesday night there is "no quick and easy solution." Before he was President he said the dilemma would not be solved for years.

This is what's likely to happen if there's no war now: Temporary arrangements to reduce the heat and then another flare-up.

Nothing shows better what a mess it is than Kennedy's statement Tuesday night: "Berlin is not a part of East Germany, but a separate territory under control of the Allied powers. Thus the rights are clear and firmly rooted."

Those rights may be clear in the Western mind but not necessarily clear in the thinking of the Russians or the East German Communists.

Berlin lies 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, over and through which lie all the supply routes to Berlin. But Berlin itself is two cities, not one.

East Berlin is under East German Communist control. In West Berlin, whose almost 2½ million people's sympathies are with West Germany, the United States, Britain and France have almost 11,000 troops as a symbol of Western support for them.

It's easy to imagine how Americans would feel if, say, Kansas City, in the heart of the United States, was a Communist-run town whose links were with Russia and whose supplies and visitors came from there.

What then does Kennedy mean by saying the West has "rights" to Berlin. The U. S. government argues this way:

In agreements made with Russia during and after World War I Allied troops were to stay in Berlin until the victors in the war signed a peace treaty with a new German government.

[The Soviets say, in effect, all this is now out of date and it's about time a peace treaty was finally signed.]

But the trouble is there are two Germanies: the West German government of Chancellor Adenauer, allied to the West; and the East German Communist government which is actually a Russian puppet.

Adenauer insists no peace treaty with East Germany should be signed because this would mean the Allies agreed there could be two Germanies. He wants, and the United States backs him up, just one single German government for all Germany.

In short: A peace treaty with East Germany would mean and legalize the indefinite division of Germany. So long as the Allies do not sign with East Germany, Adenauer can hope for a single, united Germany some day.

How then could the two Germanies be united? This country suggests, and Russia wants no part of it, that the people in the two Germanies be allowed free and open elections to choose a new, single German government for all of them.

The reason the Russians won't buy this: They control East Germany now. In a free election the East Germans would probably vote for a single, non-Communist government.

(And in fairness: It is understandable that the Russians—after what a single German government did to them in World War I—may genuinely fear seeing a new, all-powerful, single German government again. So long as Germany is divided, its strength is split.)

But even now the East German Communists don't have full control of their territory. For instance: The Russians, not the East Germans, control those supply routes to Berlin.

The Russians threaten—whether or not the Allies do it—to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give control of the Berlin supply routes to them.

This would put the Allies in a goofy box: They'd have to get permission for sending supplies and people to Berlin from an East German government they don't even recognize as a government.

All kinds of mix-ups could happen then although the East Germans would hardly try to shut off Berlin without Soviet approval since they'd have to depend on Russian support if the West decided to smash its way through.

And here is the note of irony: Not only the Russians but probably millions of people in the United States, France and Britain—remembering what a single big Germany did in the war—don't want to see the two Germanies united.

Nevertheless, the United States keeps telling the Russians, Germany must be unified while knowing the Russians won't agree to any such thing.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Today the 'Great God of Nations' is pleading for unity of mind, for brotherly love between men and for peace on earth. Jesus the greatest of teachers presented to men truths, which were then as they are now, of great importance to all mankind. His utterances, without revision, are most pertinent to modern life and make universal appeal. In them are heights which no man has scaled; depths which no man has sounded; reaches of length and breadth which no man has explored. Universally the need for blessings from the great 'God of Nations' has never been so great. He commanded men to learn of Him and promised to show them the way.

Pastors, Priests and Rabbis are pooling their interests in an effort to challenge All Nations to an understanding of the term 'Peace.' Prayers from millions of earnest seeking, warm hearted, religious people, go up to the great 'God of Nations' every day for those men who are entrusted with our destinies.

Millions are now saying of Jesus: "There was the true light, even the light which lighteth every man, coming into the world." Whether judged by subject matter, the method of its presentation, or its effectiveness in influencing life... Jesus enjoys pre-eminence among teachers. If men would but seek out His will; if world leaders would but ask His guidance when difficult, international problems arise... then solving them would not be such a surprise, for in Him men of faith find all things possible.
